WYSO Interview

On September 29th Barry Buckman principal of Rogero Buckman Architects and member of the Litehouse Development Group, was interviewed on WYSO. In the interview Barry explained how the project came about as a collaborative effort among the members of the Partnership for Affordable Sustainability (PAS). He touched on the aspects of affordability, energy efficiency and sustainability and how the homes were designed to fit into each neighborhood and the particular site. To listen to the interview go to <http://stream.publicbroadcasting.net/production/mp3/national/local-national-633697.mp3>. The interview is linked to a WWII segment. The Litehouse interview starts approximately 16 minutes into the segment.

Litehouse Presentation

The Litehouse team has made presentations to all five constituents of the PAS. The Dayton, West Carrollton and Harrison Township councils were briefed, the Kettering city manager, as well as the Board of Directors for CountyCorp. We thank the council members, the Kettering city manager and the CountyCorp Board for allowing us the opportunity to present the Litehouse project.

Sponsors and Partners

We are pleased to announce we have received verbal commitments from The Miami Conservancy District, RTA and Vectren to sponsor the Litehouse project. Their sponsorship will help fund Litehouse educational and promotional materials. We are also pleased to announce the verbal commitment from two Litehouse partners: The Miami Conservancy District and National City. Their funding will help bring the Litehouse Demonstration Homes from concept to reality. We appreciate the positive response we continue to receive from our local companies and organizations.

There were over a dozen organizations at this event promoting energy conservation, environmental protection and a green lifestyle. We thank Amy Riegel with the City of Dayton for arranging to print the handout communicating the “Lite” features of the Litehouse Demonstration Homes.
